MCI layoffs postponed

BY DENA BISNETTE

The first large wave of layoffs at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant have been postponed by Mason-Chamberlain, Inc., the plant contractor.

According to Robert Burns, public information director for the plant, about 300 workers in Mason-Chamberlain's projectile metal parts facility have been notified that their layoffs, supposed to become effective on Monday, have been indefinitely postponed.

Burns said the reason was that the facility was behind on the last of its remaining contracts.

The contractor had not announced late Wednesday how long the postponement will last before Mason-Chamberlain sets another "expected separation date," which is the term the notices to the employees used for the effective date of the layoffs.

"It all depends on completion of this contract," Burns stated. "All I know at this point is that MCI personnel announced Wednesday morning that these people had a few more days to work."

In the meantime, many employees are utilizing the outplacement center set up at the plant site in attempts to find new jobs.

Burns said 63 people had resigned stating that they had found other work since the 60-day layoff notices were given. He did not know whether these people had had to relocate outside Mississippi to get jobs or whether they had to change to occupations different from the ones in which they were employed at Mason-Chamberlain.

The Mississippi Job Service has brought a computer into the outplacement center to begin tapping into its statewide resource network, but even before the computer was brought to the plant, 150 referrals were reported, Burns added.

He was able to state that some of the people who had backgrounds in shipbuilding had had success in seeking new jobs and that about 15 workers left Mason-Chamberlain to become strikebreakers at an aircraft facility in Mobile, Ala.

Workers with enough seniority have been given the option of reporting to jobs elsewhere in the plant, but those who did not choose to do so were supposed to be laid off Monday.

Also, employees were supposed to be signed up for unemployment compensation before they left and still have the option of continuing their insurance at their own cost, Burns added.

EVER WONDER how one moves a palm tree? Well, here's the answer. Bay Technical Associates workers were busy using company equipment last week to replace sever-

Wild chase ends with accident and arrest for Keesler escapee

BY TRACI BONNEY

Air Force deserter James Nicholas Coppock was apprehended in Hancock County Wednesday following his escape from Keesler Air Force base Tuesday night.

Coppock, 25, was being held for kidnapping and other charges in the abduction of 4-year-old Brittany Lynn Collins when he reportedly overpowered two guards and left Keesler around 9:45 p.m. Tuesday.

According to Highway Patrol Officer Joe Gazzo, a red 1989 Ford was reported stolen from Butch Oustalet Ford on Hwy. 49 in Gulfport about 8:28 a.m. Wednesday.

Shortly afterward, the Diamondhead security force reported to the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol that the stolen vehicle, with a man fitting Coppock's description inside, was seen on Hwy. 603.

Highway Patrol Officer Ted Boyd reported spotting the vehicle southbound on Hwy. 603 and began pursuit. Gazzo said when Boyd started following, the vehicle increased its speed.

The vehicle then turned west onto I-10 where Highway Patrol Officer Andy Estridge joined the chase.

The vehicle tried to hit the Highway Patrol cars and succeeded in forcing several other vehicles off the interstate while passing in the emergency lane and median at high speeds.

Major Mickey Ladner of the Highway Patrol, who was westbound ahead of the fleeing vehicle, tried to stop it. His vehicle, was rammed in the left rear.

With the three patrol units in pursuit, the vehicle turned north onto Hwy. 607, immediately turned south in the northbound lane and rammed Estridge's vehicle, then continued south.

The vehicle then turned east

Earth Day festivities set for this weekend

BY DENA BISNETTE

Several events have been added to Earth Day festivities in Bay St. Louis, including some children's programs.

On Saturday, Bookends Bookstore and the Kid Company will host "A Child's Way to Celebrate Earth Day 1990" at the two adjacent shops, which are located on the US-90 service road in Bay St. Louis.

The day will start off at 10 a.m. with an environmental sing-along led by the Mississippi Mamas, Dodie Drody and Karen Long, who will perform their own original music.

The sing-along will be followed by Sammy Soil, appearing courtesy of the U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service.

At 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., musical performances by Cherie, Nashville recording artist who is a native of New Orleans. Cherie, who has been writing original music since the age of 13 and who recorded her debut album, "I Wanna Be an Angel," last summer, will provide the children with opportunities to explore their own musical talent with natural instruments.

Other activities will include fish printing, leaf pressing and other nature crafts, various speakers and story tellers.

The event will continue until 4 p.m. For more information, call Bookends at 467-9627.

Children will also be the focus of an art exhibit "Earth's Children", at Serenity, Main Street, Bay St. Louis, from noon until 6 p.m. Art has been supplied by Coast Episcopal, Bay High, Diamondhead Academy, students of David Wallace and a few students gallery owner Jerry Dixon said heard about the exhibit and "just brought their artwork over."

Wallace has also led students from various schools and organizations in a different kind of exhibit—the children have painted the litter barrels which

Taylor seeks re-election

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Congressman Gene Taylor officially kicked off his re-election campaign Wednesday morning in Pascagoula, followed by announcements in Bay St. Louis and Hattiesburg.

Taylor, 36, was elected in October to serve the unexpired term of the late Rep. Larkin Smith, who died in an August 1989 plane crash.

The Democratic candidate will face Smith's widow, Republican Sheila Smith in the November election.

The former Bay St. Louis city councilman and state senator was accompanied by his wife, Margaret, and three children.

In his announcement, Taylor highlighted his accomplishments during his six month tenure in Washington.

Current survey disputes may be resolved in court

BY TRACI BONNEY

The city is considering going to court.

Several residents on 10th and Longfellow streets have voiced concern that property surveys they have contracted do not match those contracted by the city. The dispute focuses on use of different benchmarks for the northeast corner of the subdivision, according to comments made at recent Bay St. Louis city council meetings.

The council discussed at its Tuesday meeting the possibility of bringing a suit to chancery court to determine the true boundary marker so that future surveys will concur and will eliminate the property disputes.

City Council attorney John Seafide estimated the cost of legal action to be between $5,000 and $10,000. No action was taken after the discussion.

An ordinance was proposed at the council's April 3 meeting which would have allowed the city council to abandon part of the city's right-of-way on 10th Street to Charles Delk, owner of ABC Rental, in order to settle his dispute.

The ordinance failed, however, after the council's attorney ruled that a vote of abstention on the matter could not be counted as a positive vote.

Surveyor Lucien Raymond, who conducted a survey for the city of the now-disputed area, attended the meeting Tuesday, but was not called to speak, except to be asked what the cost would be to survey the area again for use in court.

Other matters addressed at the meeting included:

—the passing of a motion to continue support of Boy Scouts of America by donating $300 directly to those troops that serve the Bay St. Louis area.

—the success of the DeMontluzin Street cleanup project, which included work done by members of the St. Stanislaus Key Club; —several lot cleanups needed on Citizen Street, St. John Street and other streets.

A FEW DENTS?—A grey Ford sits beside Highway 603 Tuesday awaiting a tow truck after a three-vehicle accident which occurred at about 11:30 a.m. under the Kiln caution light. According to State Trooper Roy Fullerton, the Ford's driver, David W. Baughman of Lakeshore, was uninjured, as was the driver of a Mazda which suffered only minor damage, Mark C. Palmer of Long Beach. The other driver involved, Stephanie M. Lawless of Bay St. Louis, was treated at the scene by Mobile Medic Ambulance personnel after she suffered knee lacerations; her vehicle suffered heavy damage on the right side of its front end. KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Driving can be an adventure sometimes

I love to travel, but I usually can afford no more than a quick trip around town, down the beach to Biloxi or down I-10 to New Orleans.

It really doesn't matter, though. I'll use any excuse I can to hop into my car and drive somewhere.

My love of driving was not something I was born with, however. It's an acquired fondness. My first days of driving were somewhat less than joyous.

I remember my driver's education classes in high school mainly with relief that I left the course alive.

My teacher was a basketball coach who had never taught driving before. One of the first things he told the class was that he only had one eye. The other was glass.

Someone with no experience as a driving instructor and with little or no depth perception was undertaking to teach a group of 14-year-olds how to navigate an automobile without damaging people or property.

I was not thrilled at the prospects.

I survived, though, and while I was taking the class I got my driver's permit.

My dad then decided I needed to learn to drive a standard transmission car, since the school's car was an automatic, so he attempted to teach me to drive the family station wagon.

It was a disaster.

I was nervous already — most kids are when they are driving with a parent in the car for the first time. But it was worse for me. My dad is a former driver's education teacher.

So here I was, trying to sedate the butterflies in my stomach, not grind the gears, and coordinate the gas and clutch pedals all at the same time.

It didn't work.

The butterflies continued to flutter; the gear shift refused to shift smoothly; and the car stalled when I let the clutch out too far before pressing the accelerator.

Well, we finally got out of the driveway.

We slowly made our way from our house on Bayview Street to Timber Ridge subdivision to begin my first and only lesson.

Anyone who's ever been into Timber Ridge knows that it's full of curving, twisting roadway. It's no challenge for a seasoned driver, but for a nervous novice it's pure torture.

I tried; I really did.

Dad quit trying to teach me after I stalled several times, he yelled at me once too often and I burst into tears.

The topper was when I tried to downshift and stalled the station wagon four times in front of our driveway with a car heading toward us.

Needless to say, I never learned to drive a standard.

I am a good driver, but I have had three accidents. They weren't normal ones, either.

My first accident came shortly after I got my driver's license. I was making a right turn into a shopping center parking lot when the 1974 Dodge Dart I was driving stalled.

Well, Dad never told me when the car stalls you lose the power steering and brakes. I found out the hard way.

The car's momentum took me, my two brothers and their friend over the curb and into the grass. We were heading straight for a steel cable that supported a power line pole.

As my brothers shrieked in the back seat and their friend, who sat in the front passenger seat, slid screaming to the floorboard, I desperately wrenched the wheel to the left and stood on the brake pedal.

The car coasted to a stop between the cable and the pole. The steel cable caught the car antenna and snapped it. The antenna hung by a small piece of metal as we drove over the other curb and into the parking lot.

I had no more accidents for five years. Then I hit a Christmas tree.

It was about 8:30 p.m. New Year's Eve and I was going to a friend's house. It was dark outside and there was oncoming traffic on the highway, so I had my headlights on low.

Someone had taken down a Christmas tree and left it on the roadside to be picked up, but the tree had rolled into the road.

I didn't see the tree until I was about three feet away. I swerved and braked, but not far enough or fast enough to avoid the base of the tree.

The damage was minor. I had it repaired and was accident-free until Labor Day weekend of 1988. That Saturday, a wet road would have claimed my life if God hadn't been watching over me.

I was north of Hattiesburg on I-59, heading to the Coast to visit my parents. I clipped along at 55 miles an hour and ignored the heavy rain.

A voice in my head kept saying, "Put on your seat belt."

I ignored it three times. I guess God must have gotten tired of the subtle approach, because the voice stopped.

Less than two minutes later a pickup truck whizzed by with a bumper sticker on it that read, "Please buckle your safety belt."

I looked up and said, "Okay, Lord, I get the message."

I put on my safety belt. Fifteen minutes later I hit a concrete bridge rail with the car going 40 miles an hour.

I had bypassed Hattiesburg via Hwy. 98 and was just accelerating out of the curve on a single lane onramp onto Hwy. 49 when my car hydroplaned.

I was thinking not in sentences or phrases, but in words at that point. As the rail loomed in front of me, I thought, "Hit...crash...insurance...go up...Mom...mad...oh, no!"

Let me explain. Mom was my insurance agent at the time, so I knew she wouldn't be pleased with this incident.

I had no concern for myself, though. I had just become a born-again Christian a few months earlier, so death was no longer a problem. I was wearing my seat belt, so the thought of injury didn't pop into my head, either.

The car was moderately damaged — if you can call $1,400 of damage moderate — and my purse ended up full of red creme soda, but I was okay. Shaken, but okay.

I finished the drive to the Coast and back home, and was able to keep driving until I put the car in the repair shop.

I haven't had even a fender-bender since then — a few close calls, but no accidents.

I'm not a wreckless driver; I never have been. So it just goes to show that even careful drivers can have "adventures" behind the wheel.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I wish to extend a sincere thank you to the person who was responsible for the removal of the glob of cement at the edge of Easterbrook Street and US-90.

Apparently cement was spilled by someone on the road, and whenever a motorist made a turn onto Easterbrook Street from the highway they would strike it. Anyway, I am glad someone saw fit to remove the hazard.

Sunday is the finale for the big Earth Day celebrations across the world, but efforts must continue throughout the year to protect our environment.

There are many Earth Day celebrations going on along the Mississippi Gulf Coast and it is good to see so many concerned citizens.

There are many things on tap for the area and I will mention a few.

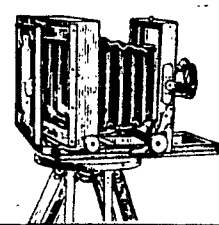

For the youngsters there is "A Child's way to celebrate Earth Day 1990," sponsored by the Kid Company and Bookends Bookstore on Saturday starting at 10 a.m.

Also on Saturday, there will be a 5K Soil and Water Run and other events at War Memorial Park beginning at 8 a.m.

A Concert in the Park will begin at 6 p.m. alongside Bay St. Louis City Hall Saturday. This event is sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Business Association.

A big celebration is scheduled in Bay St. Louis on Sunday beginning with a 9:30 a.m. Mass with music by the St. Rose Choir at St. Rose de Lima Church. The festivities begin at 11 a.m. at the Washington Street Pier with a festival and live entertainment throughout the day.

We hope to see you at some of the celebrations.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Beat 5 supervisor needs geography lesson

Dear Editor:

I read with some interest Supervisor Mike Ladner's response to criticism of the county's "efforts" at road maintenance in Beat 5.

Particularly fascinating was the statement that "every street in the east side section of Shoreline Park had been upgraded" during his two-year, four-month tenure.

If Mr. Ladner believes this to be true, then I submit that he needs, at the very least, remedial lessons in geography and semantics. For anyone, especially a county supervisor, to make this claim is ludicrous at best and at worst, dishonest.

While Mr. Ladner's statements have so far gone unchallenged, I can assure him that a great many of the voters/taxpayers who live on those "upgraded" roads will respond appropriately come next election.

Sincerely,
Renard dela Marais
Bay St. Louis

Shoreline Park man lauds Dist. 5 crew, supervisor

To the Editor,

I am a retired construction engineer and staff sergeant with the U.S. Marine Corps currently residing in Shoreline Park.

I am thoroughly capable of doing, knowing and understanding construction of roads, bridges, drainage ditches. You name it, I've done it, in combat and peacetime conditions.

There is visual proof that anyone can see, 24 hours a day, the improvements District 5 Supervisor Mike Ladner has made.

I have eight lots where I live. Last week, Ladner sent crew of men with ditch digging equipment who dug a whole square block for drainage between 21st and 22nd Streets, between Central Avenue and Bayou View.

The purpose for this was not as a favor to me or improve my property, but to maintain proper drainage from other areas beyond the point at which I live.

Between April 4 and 5, the District 5 supervisor has had one to two road graders catching all roads he could possibly get. The only time a grader will skip a road or part of a road is when people refuse to remove parked vehicles.

I have lived at this location for seven years. I have yet to see any worker, supervisor or foreman stay in one place and do nothing, like sit in truck eating or drinking.

I have seen men in my area work through lunch putting in a culvert to expedite traffic.

I would like to see all people, not only in District Five, but in other districts, quit complaining and throwing out their trash. If people in general, especially in Shoreline Park, would do less complaining and be more cooperative with county workers, not block traffic and give the men a chance to do their jobs, Shoreline Park would be a much better place to live and a much nicer class of people would be moving into the area.

Thank you very much,
Dillard Wheat, USMC ret.
Shoreline Park

Harbor Drive 'garbage dump' devalues property, angers resident

Dear Editor:

I think someone has greased someone's palm. The result is that we homeowners on Bayou Philip and Bayou La Croix Estates now have a garbage dump on the main (and only) road—Harbor Drive—in this area.

This dump, of course, translates into lowered property values with eventually increased taxes. The "new" garbage service is the familiar heavy-tonnage truck that serves the city and county.

To add insult to injury, the garbage service has put its three garbage bins on the only large and decent boat slip in this area.

This was once a pretty, shaded picnic area. Now it is a tarred-over smelly mess. We now have people from other areas bringing their garbage, broken furniture and oil pan drippings.

Because these heavy garbage trucks keep the road torn up, they can't always get back here,

On these occasions they send someone to set fire to the bins, and the whole neighborhood is then permeated with garbage-dump smoke for days.

We had a good garbage man who served us for years. His price was reasonable and he was neat. No matter how sloppy we homeowners were, he always left our areas clean. Now he is being put out of business by the resident- and non-resident slob who don't want to pay their $10 monthly fee.

Big-money enterprise has once again "trumped" over a "mom and pop" enterprise.

I'll bet "mom and pop" tried to get a bank loan to increase and streamline their service, and were turned down for lack of collateral. No money available for old-fashioned ambition and hard work over several years. Easier to play with the big boys who know how to scratch each other's backs.

EDITORIAL

Merchants beware!

The ease with which youngsters can purchase beer at certain establishments in Hancock County has been brought to our attention several times in recent weeks. It is illegal for a person under the age of 21 to purchase beer in the state of Mississippi.

Some minors have reported how easily hard liquor can be purchased within the county.

We realize the majority of merchants are upholding the law, yet there seems to be a few disregarding the law to make a few extra sales.

It is human nature that word travels fast among the younger generation as to where they can purchase beer without questions asked.

In recent times, the sheriff's department has used junior deputies to see if they can make purchases of beer. They have been successful at a few establishments.

When the undercover operations are used, some merchants cry "entrapment", but it is one way of monitoring the illegal sales.

It is also illegal for adults to purchase beer for minors.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported Wednesday his department would be once again "working undercover" to monitor the illegal sales of beer and hard liquor to minors.

We issue a warning to merchants and teens—the liquor sale laws will be enforced.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Just plain listening is important

I returned to Washington from a 10-day district work period in South Mississippi recently. The Congressional recess is commonly referred to as an "Easter Break," but it was not a vacation as far as my personal schedule was concerned.

I spent most of the work period traveling throughout the district, meeting with constituents and giving speeches.

Regardless of the occasion, however, the visits with constituents served as a good reminder of one of my most important responsibilities as your Congressman: I'm here to listen.

Keeping in touch with the people of the 5th Congressional District of Mississippi isn't as easy as it was to stay in touch with my smaller state senatorial district.

I have a more difficult and time consuming job now as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives and, for most of the week, I live in Washington.

But the principle behind the promise to stay in touch is probably more important now as a member of Congress.

I need your input to cast important votes on federal legislation. Also, I'm here to serve as your advocate on my problems you may be having with the federal government.

It's important to me that you know you can call on me when you are having a problem or you just feel like sharing your thoughts on how to improve our nation.

I have three district offices in Mississippi to serve you: in Hattiesburg, Pascagoula and Gulfport. Each office is wheelchair accessible and is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A "mobile office" van also will travel to South Mississippi businesses, senior citizen centers, city halls and courthouse to solicit your input.

Although I haven't missed a vote in Congress yet, I will be personally traveling to South Mississippi on weekends to host a series of town meetings.

The meetings are designed to help constituents have more contact with the congressman and to increase the amount of say you have on important issues that affect the district.

Believe me, hearing from South Mississippians in the form of compliment or complaint makes my job easier.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

The elections are coming

Qualifying date has come and gone for Mississippi's congressional elections, and candidates are already at work; planning and scheduling strategies for the campaign trail.

Meanwhile, elections for state and district offices are just around the corner, and officeholders are keeping an eye on voter reaction to almost everything done and said these days.

The 1990 elections, and preparation for the coming state elections, bring to mind again the words of former Governor J. P. Coleman.

Gov. Coleman, in an address to the membership of the Mississippi Economic Council three years ago, lamented the fact that Mississippi has too many elections.

One result of all those elections, he said, is that Mississippians never have an opportunity to allow election rifts to heal. In effect, he was saying, Mississippians spend so much time fighting each other on the campaign trails, we never seem to have enough time to work together in the best interest of the state.

Legislation was introduced in the 1990 session revising the election process in Mississippi. While legislators passed on the issue this time around, they should be encouraged to take another look.

We could stand a little less fighting and a little more togetherness in Mississippi.

Chase

onto I-10, running several mo. cars off the road.

The chase ended when the vehicle entered a rest area off the interstate with Boyd and Estridge in pursuit. Ladner and Harrison County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Collins, who had joined the chase, blocked the east end of the rest area.

The vehicle rammed Collins' vehicle, knocking off the front end.

Ladner fired several shots at the vehicle, puncturing the front left tire. The vehicle went out of control, rammed Collins' vehicle again, and came to a halt.

Coppock, who resisted arrest, was apprehended by the three highway patrolmen and Collins.

The officers and members of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, which assisted in the chase and arrest, escorted Coppock to Hancock Medical Center, where he was examined and found to have no serious injuries.

He was then taken to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and charged with four counts of aggravated assault of a police officer and other traffic charges.

After an initial appearance presided over by Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson, Coppock was turned over to Keesler Air Force Base authorities for return to the base.

Gazzo said Coppock ran an estimated 25 cars off various roads during the course of the chase.

Cochran's mobile office to visit Coast April 24-25

Senator Thad Cochran is dispatching his mobile office staff to several Gulf Coast area counties on April 24 and 25.

The senator's mobile office staff will hold office hours in Poplarville and Biloxi for the convenience of citizens in those areas as well as neighboring counties.

On Tuesday, April 24, the senator's staff will hold office hour from 11 a.m. until noon at the Pearl River County Courthouse in Poplarville.

From 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 24, the mobile office staff will conduct office hours at the Harrison County Courthouse in Biloxi.

"Citizens who may have a problem involving a federal agency, or who want to discuss issues before the 1990 session of Congress, are invited to come by the Poplarville or Biloxi office hour stops and visit with the senator's staff."

The visits to the Gulf Coast area, including Poplarville and Biloxi are part of the constituent service program Cochran initiated to help provide direct contact between his office and residents and officials at the local level throughout the state.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Crawfish aficionados have much cause for rejoicing these Spring days, with a bumper crop of the "crawdads" or "mudbugs" on hand and all sorts of ways to cook and enjoy this delectable of delectables!

Fortunately, winter's extra rain and bitter freezing weather over the Christmas weekend had little or no effect on the crawdad crop, for, as authorities have told us the crawfish metabolism simply "went to zero" to protect themselves from the cold! And, it's said that this may be one of the best seasons in years!

There are many ways to cook and enjoy crawfish, as you know. But, if you're not in the mood to "boil 'em up" or whatever, you can still indulge to your heart's content, and your palate's as well, if you're "in that number" this weekend when the Biloxi Elks hold their Crawfish Festival—and they're planning to serve tons and tons of spicy hot crawfish.

Or, if you prefer to boil your own, just remember the cardinal rule of crawfish cooking, as well as of other seafood cooking: "Don't overcook!"

Eating boiled crawfish, and getting to the sweet white meat is a basic skill learned early in life on our Gulf Coast and in South Louisiana; and now, it seems, the remainder of the country and others as well have discovered the tastiness of the crawfish—it's about time!

Crawfish come to the table in many plain and fancy ways. Simplest of all, of course, is the boiled crawfish, served in their shells, spicy hot, along with potatoes and onions and ears of corn cooked along with the crawdads—and, of course, lots and lots of newspapers as the table "cloth" along with stacks of paper napkins and towels, and damp washcloths for the youngsters' faces and hands—and perhaps mine as well!

And, from the crawfish tails come more elegant dishes, fit for the finest dinner table (though I think boiled crawfish fit the bill quite well.) There's etouffée, a peppery "smothered" crawfish tail dish, and crawfish bisque, with the "heads" stuffed with a savory seasoning, and crawfish stew and so many others. And, if you don't want to boil your own crawfish and peel them, and so on, you'll find the crawfish tails in good supply, ready for the dish of your choice.

And, speaking of elegant ways to cook up the crawfish tails, one of my favorites of favorites is Thelma Yockey's recipe for:

CRAWFISH CARDINALE
1 lb. crawfish tails
1 stick butter
3 green onions, finely chopped
1 rib celery, finely chopped

2 Tblsp. butter
2 Tblsp. flour
1/2 cup catsup
1 cup heavy cream
1 can mushroom pieces, drained
1 jigger brandy

In a large saucepan, melt the stick of butter and add the onion and celery, and cook until soft. Gently stir in crawfish tails and set aside.

Meanwhile, in a separate saucepan, melt the butter. Stir in the flour, but DO NOT BROWN. Add the catsup and cream, and cook, stirring, until the sauce thickens.

Combine the sauce with the crawfish tails, and add the mushrooms and cook until bubbly. Remove from the heat, and add the brandy. Place in casserole or individual ramekins. Garnish with lemon slices, paprika and toast points.

Sweet potato recipes feature lower calories, cholesterol

By J. Syd Conner

Sweet potatoes may not be the typical idea of health food, but there's more than one way to skin them and plenty of nutritious ways to serve them.

The University of Southern Mississippi's Student Dietetic Association recently set out to prove it. They took recipes and two bushels of Mississippi-grown sweet potatoes donated by the Mississippi Sweet Potato Council and adjusted the council's recipes to lower cholesterol, calories and sodium.

"By using the sweet potatoes and modifying the recipes, (the students) were making a product that's good for a healthy diet," said Dr. Wayne Billon, sponsor for the student group and an assistant professor in the USM School of Home Economics.

Here is a sampling of the

SWEET POTATO CHICKEN ORIENTAL
2 lbs. fresh sweet potatoes
3 1/2 lbs. fryer chicken, cut into serving pieces and skinned (skinning lowers cholesterol and calories)

1 cup low sodium soy sauce
1/4 cup dry sherry
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground ginger
3 to 4 cloves garlic, crushed hot cooked rice (optional)
green onion slices

Peel sweet potatoes, quarter lengthwise. Arrange potatoes and chicken in glass baking dishes. Combine soy sauce, sherry, brown sugar, ginger and garlic; mix well and pour over potatoes and chicken. Cover and marinate in refrigerator at least an hour, turning once.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Turn and baste chicken and potatoes. Bake, basting once or twice, 20 minutes more or until potatoes are tender and no pink shows when meaty chicken parts are sliced. Arrange chicken on platter (over rice, if desired), with sweet potatoes around the edge. Sprinkle with green onion. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

SWEET POTATO BREAD

3 cups sugar
1 cup cooking oil
8 egg whites (removing yolks lowers cholesterol and calories)
3/4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2/3 cup water
2 cups cooked, mashed sweet potatoes

1 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Combine sugar and cooking oil; beat well. Add egg whites; beat. Combine dry ingredients and add, alternating with water, to egg mixture. Stir in sweet potatoes and optional chopped nuts. Pour batter into three greased loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for an hour.

SWEET POTATO-PEAR

CASSEROLE

1 (16-ounce) can pear halves, reserving natural juice
3 cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes (about 4 medium)
1/4 cup soft margarine, melted and divided
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

1 (16-ounce) can whole-berry cranberry sauce
Drain pear halves, reserving juice; set pears aside. Combine 2 tablespoons pear juice, 3 tablespoons margarine, sweet potatoes, brown sugar, salt, nutmeg; beat at medium speed until light. Spoon into greased, shallow 1 1/2 quart casserole. Arrange pears, cut side up, over potato mixture.

Combine honey, remaining tablespoon margarine and orange rind in a small saucepan; bring to boil. Drizzle half of honey mixture over pears.

Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Drizzle remaining honey mixture over pears and bake another 15 minutes. Fill pears with cranberry sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Chefs to showcase talents at Coast Gourmet Extravaganza

The Mississippi Coast Restaurant and Beverage Association will present its eighth annual "Chefs of the Coast Gourmet Extravaganza," Sunday, April 22 from 4-10 p.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center, Hwy. 90, Biloxi.

THIS LAND IS YOUR LAND

By Joe Pilet
Friendship Oak DAR
Conservancy Chairman

What can we do to make the Earth more beautiful?

"Earth, you are beautifully dressed!"

Mark this date on your calendar—Sunday, April 21.

This date has been officially proclaimed Earth Day and has been so celebrated for 20 years.

The object of the celebration, it seems, is to make our citizens more appreciative of our beautiful earth and to give some thought about what each can personally do to enhance earth's beauty, bounty and blessings. What can be done? A good question that deserves a thoughtful answer.

Some thinkers like to refer to the Old Testament which gives in Genesis an account of the creation of Earth. Others find the account unacceptable.

They report it was made by unknown translators and has stimulated many unanswered questions.

Why boggle the mind with these questions? One thing is certain: Earth is here. Earth is now. And Earth is a good place to be offering us creature comforts, abundance of food and hidden treasures as well as obvious wealth. All we really need is energy, imagination and a willingness to develop potential.

What can we do to make earth more beautiful? More productive? We can sing along with the little kindergarten song; the words are "Brighten the Corner Where You Are."

That simple little song holds the solution to a clean and healthful environment. Let's make it graphic. The "Don't Column" and the "Do Column."

Don't litter. Don't accumulate rubbish. Don't pollute the air with noise, offensive odors, etc.

In the Do Column, remember to treat the earth with respect. Mother Earth is getting older. She deserves your protection.

Nature Conservancy slates annual meeting

The Mississippi chapter of The Nature Conservancy will hold its annual meeting in Hattiesburg on May 19.

Festivities include the dedication of the Sweetbay Bogs Nature Area, guided nature tours, nature scavenger hunts for children and a never-before-displayed exhibit of works by the late artist Lucille Parker.

Food and refreshments will be provided.

For a map and other information, contact the state office at 355-5357 or write P.O. Box 1028, Jackson, 39215.

Conservation practices for landowners featured on video

The USDA Soil Conservation Service and the National Association of Conservation Districts have produced a videotape of eight topics that will help any landowner put conservation practices on the ground.

This videotape shows, step by step, how to do practices with little help from SCS. Each segment is five to 10 minutes long. Here's what's covered:

—How to measure and manage crop residues

—How to lay out contour lines and use field borders
—How to lay out contour buffer strips —Points to consider in contour stripcropping

—How to lay out wind strips
—How to control small gullies with grass
—How to plant and maintain a field windbreak
—How to keep your terraces working

The tape includes basic information for anyone interested in taking better care of the land and will help farmers do many of the simple practices on their own.

The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District will be showing the tape April 19 at the Soil Conservation office in Kiln at 7 p.m.

LOCAL BRIEF

Earth Day

will be used on the beach during Earth Day festivities.

Children and adults alike may wish to compete in the eighth annual 5K soil and Water Stewardship Run or an accompanying one-mile event. They start at 8 a.m. at War Memorial Park in Pass Christian and pre-race registration will be accepted on race day.

The races will be followed at 10 a.m. for the run, Gulf Coast Writers' Association's Earth Day essay contest and Southern Poetry Society's Earth Day contest.

From 11 a.m. until mid-afternoon, the Earth Day festivities in Pass Christian will continue at the park and will feature various booths, radio remote spots by WZKX-FM and WROA-AM, live music by Southern Fire, community games such as kite flying and an on-site recycling project.

Garland Moran and the Night Travelers will be featured in another of the "Concert in the Park" events at City Hall Park next to Bay St. Louis City Hall from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.

On Sunday, the St. Rose-de Lima Choir will perform at 9:30 a.m. at an Earth Day Celebration Mass.

A Mother Earth Healing Ceremony at 10:30 in City Hall Park will feature the Cherokee Dance of Life, a Native American dance. The dance will be repeated at the Washington St. Pier area at 11 a.m. along with Tai Chi.

The Bay St. Louis Earth Day festival begins at noon at the pier and continues until dusk with various booths, community games, on-site recycling projects and a variety of live music.

Performances are scheduled to begin at 12:30 and will include Jo Rollins and Friends, who perform again at 5:30; Bantam Angels at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.; Steve Brooks, 2 p.m.; Mississippi Mamas, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.; Steve Morrison and Earth Music at 4 p.m.; and Doug Gleber at 5 p.m.

In addition, the art exhibit will continue from noon until 6 at Serenity, where there will also be an ecology film festival from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Also on Sunday, the Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society will sponsor its annual open house at the Huckleberry Hill Arboretum, 167 Woodland Way, Pass Christian.

Various organizations are sponsoring Earth Day activities. Among those who will be exhibitors Mississippi 2020, Gulf Coast Recycling, Citizens for a Healthy Environment, Mississippi Environmental Management Organization, Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society, Crosby Arboretum, Sierra Club, Audubon Society, Habitat for Humanity, Harrison County Soil and Water Conservation District, and various church, school and civic groups. Gulf Coast Running Club is assisting by officiating the 5K and one-mile runs and Bay St. Louis Business Association is sponsoring the "Concert in the Park."

'Annie Get Your Gun' opens Friday in Biloxi

"Annie Get Your Gun," Irving Berlin's greatest musical comedy success, will be presented by Riviera Productions Friday through Sunday, April 20-22, at the Saenger Theatre for the Performing Arts in Biloxi.

The story, based on the real-life story of Annie Oakley, America's most famous marks-woman, tells how she falls in love with the star of the Wild West Show, Frank Butler. Head over heels in love with the crack-shot, she tries to impress him and thereby wins his affection.

Some of the all time favorite hits include "There's No Business Like Show Business," "Anything You Can Do," "The Girl That I Marry," and "They Say It's Wonderful."

Directed and choreographed for Riviera Productions by Ruth Ann Pecoul, the show stars Kitty Stallings, J. R. Bibey, Carolyn Matthews, Boyce Holleman, Skip Wusnack and Chester

Delacruz.

Bob Moody is musical director; Sandi DiGirolamo, musical accompanist; Chester Delacruz, costume designer; Ed Scanlan, set designer; Ron Luetjen, lighting designer; Connie Bibey, stage manager; and Peggy Soukup, props and makeup.

Other members of the cast are Lenny Jenkins, Neil Stallings, Everett Black, Kenneth Jones, Boo Killebrew, Heather Eaker, Melissa Mask, Kathy Wusnack.

Also, Jennifer Bibey, Diana Sue, Faith Wilson, Paul Wilson, Lindsay Wilson, Beau Bibey, Joy Williams, Betty Mask, Nicole Edler.

And, Angela Motes, Elizabeth Foley, Margaret Mille, Jimmy Dubuison, Anne Mabry, Dominicus Maters, Donald Ishee and Melinda Jones.

Dancers are Pat Clendenin, Sallye Killebrew, Rebekah Parent, Jennifer Grissom and Donna Wong.

Certain for the evening performances both days will be 8 p.m. and the Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. Tickets for reserved seating are $12 in advance, $14 at the door for the evening shows.

The matinee is general admission only, and tickets will be $8, senior citizens and students, $10 advance, $12 at the door. Tickets are available locally at Peoples Bank, Bay St. Louis. Call 896-7416 for more information.

Biloxi Library slates book sale

Book lovers are invited to the Friends of the Biloxi Libraries Spring Book Sale Friday and Saturday, May 4-5, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Edgewater Mall.

A good assortment of fiction, nonfiction, textbooks and children's books will be available at reasonable prices.

Hancock substance abuse committee members named

Nearly 60 community leaders from an eight-county area met at Seashore United Assembly Methodist Campground in Harrison County to learn to fight substance abuse in their communities as members of SWEEPS—the Statewide Education, Enforcement and Prevention System.

The two-day seminar, coordinated by the Attorney General's Office, taught participants community mobilization and conflict management skills. These skills and the concept of SEEPS "will be applied to form a network of social change that will cover all of Mississippi," Attorney General Mike Moore said.

Six Hancock County residents were among those present at the recent SWEEPS training session. They included Celeste Proulx, Geraldine Lang, Michael Cuevas, Lou Wilkerson, Albert D. Biehl III and Jay Fleuriet.

The training session is the result of work by the Mississippi Substance Abuse Policy Council, a 45-member group appointed by Governor Ray Mabus to study the drug-abuse problem in Mississippi.

One of the primary recommendations of the group was the development of a network to coordinate the state's efforts to stop substance abuse.

Currently more than 50 of the 82 counties in Mississippi have SWEEPS teams, Moore said.

In order to reach the Council's goals, training sessions will be held at locations across the state. The meetings will be sponsored by the Attorney General's Office, South Central Bell, The Mississippi Telephone Pioneers, Mississippi Power and Light, the Southwest Regional Center for Drug-Free Schools and Communities, the Mississippi Department of Mental Health and The University of Southern Mississippi.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1990-1B

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

On Sunday, Cycles Plus Bicycle Club is sponsoring a special "Tour de Bay" ride and picnic to celebrate the club's fifth anniversary.

The ride itself is free and begins and ends at Buccaneer State Park. Anyone who plans to go along should meet at Pavilion #3 for 10 a.m. The route is about 25 miles through Waveland, Bay St. Louis and surrounding communities, but anyone not up to the full distance can be escorted through a shorter route.

A picnic lunch, which costs $2 per person, is being served at the park after the ride. Those planning to attend lunch are asked to call Cycles Plus at 467-1706.

Participants may bring footballs, frisbees, volleyballs or other yard games but no alcoholic beverages are allowed.

By the way, Cycles Plus has found a ride leader in the Diamondhead area. Rides are currently scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays and 8 a.m. Saturdays. Distances will vary but the meeting place for all rides is Diamondhead's shopping center.

For more information, call Cycle Plus at 467-1706.

Bay St. Louis Little League will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Bay St. Louis City Hall. Business will include the league's final draft and 1990 season scheduling.

All managers and coaches are asked to attend.

I know there are a lot of horse show enthusiasts in this area and also a good many people who support Mississippi Special Olympics. A benefit horse show on Sunday, April 29, at Roundhill Farm near Gulfport is a good chance to combine the two.

For information, call 832-5629.

Runners, there are a couple of events for you Saturday. The Friendship Oak Classic at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach and the eighth annual Soil and Water Stewardship Run at War Memorial Park in Pass Christian.

Both events include 5Ks and one-mile runs and are going to be hosted by Gulf Coast Running Club.

The event in Long Beach begins at 8:30 a.m. and will be followed by a crawfish meal that is available to non-racing visitors for $3 per plate. The Pass Christian run begins at 8 a.m. and is in conjunction with Earth Day festivities.

Those who have not pre-registered can register for either event on race day.

The ninth annual Law Day Legal Run Around (a name which has always tickled me) is a 5K event with a one-mile health run to follow. It begins at 8 a.m. Saturday April 28 in Ocean Springs at the foot of the Ocean Springs-Biloxi bridge and finishes at Point Cadet in Biloxi.

Pre-registration information is available from Lindo Sullivan at 832-6071, Bobby Ariati at 863-9821, or Robert Wilkerson at 762-0035.

The March of Dimes is seeking entries for its ninth annual softball tournament, June 8, 9 and 10 at Milner Stadium in Gulfport.

The ASA-sanctioned double elimination tournament will include up to 32 teams in the men's B/C division and up to 16 women's teams. Entry fee is $85 per team.

For more information, contact the March of Dimes office at 896-0886.

A free tennis clinic sponsored by the U.S. Professional Tennis Association will be held from 1:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. May 12 at Tennis World in Diamondhead.

For more information, contact Magnus Eklund at 255-2525, ext. 300.

A little something for the little ones is the the annual fishing rodeo Quad 5 company is sponsoring Saturday at John C. Stennis Space Center.

The event will be from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. with registration at the spillway and is open to youngsters ages one to 15. There is no admission charge but refreshments will be available.

In addition, there will be a number of prizes given away.

The Hancock County Heart Association's Golf Festival is Saturday at Diamondhead Country Club.

I talked to one of the committee members the other day and a couple of members of the New Orleans Saints will be among the participants, in addition to many local and out-of-town golfers.

It should be a fun event and will be followed by a social. If anyone has not yet had a chance to help this year's Heart Association campaign and would still like to do so, contact Festival Chairman Steve Planchard at 255-2660.

The deadline for contributions to Time Out and for other items for our sports section is Tuesday at noon. Please write your telephone number on items brought into the office, so we can contact you if we need more information.

Also, we can accept clear photographs, color or black-and-white, but whether we can use them depends on the individual print. If you send us a photo, you can pick it up after you've seen it published, but we will need to know the date of publication in order to find it for you.

Loiacano, Compretta join Olympic Development team

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two Bay St. Louis soccer players are among the 18 chosen for Mississippi's Under-16 Olympic Development Team.

Jason Loiacano and Jonathan Compretta are in Las Cruces, New Mexico, today and will be there through Sunday, attending training sessions and competing with about 20 other Olympic Development teams from other parts of the United States.

The two players participated in a fall tryout which narrowed the Mississippi team to about 50 competitors.

According to Jonathan Compretta's father, J.P. Compretta, who has accompanied the players to New Mexico, said the Gulf Coast had a good showing in the final selection, with four of the 18 chosen being from Hancock and Harrison County.

While in New Mexico, the Olympic Development team members will have a chance to watch eight international teams in competition with the current NCAA and NAIA champions and two of the other top-rated teams in the U.S.

The next step for Compretta and Loiacano will be a June 10 regional camp, which Mississippi is hosting at Hinds County Junior College in Raymond.

'Soccer for Thinkers' Camp now seeking registration

Once again, Bay St. Louis Waveland soccer players will be able to attend Roy Patton's "Soccer for Thinkers" Camp without having to travel very far.

Added bonuses this year are a free hot breakfast and lunch at no extra cost.

The camp will be held at Bay Middle School on Second Street, June 18-22 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Breakfast will be served at 8:30 and lunch at noon.)

Cost of the camp has not increased, and discounts are offered to families who have more than one child attending the camp, as well as discounts for families who send one or more children to both the day camp and the over-night camp in Mobile.

Coach Patton holds a USSF "A" license, NSCAA advanced national diploma, Irish Football Association coaching badge and is coaching director for Alabama. He is Olympic Development regional coach and NSCAA regional coach.

As the head coach of the University of South Alabama, his record since 1981 is 116-37-7, and includes three Sun Belt conference finals.

In 1989 his team was ranked No. 3 in NCAA Division I in the South, ahead of Clemson, Duke and North Carolina. The Jaguars were ranked No. 20 in the National ISSA Poll.

Only South Alabama and the University of Virginia could boast two all-Americans. Eduardo Carvacho joined the United States National Team for the Marlboro Cup against Costa Rica and Columbia, and he is in contention for a World Cup call team.

For more information or applications, call or write Kathy Edwards, 467-5599, P.O. Box 2211, Bay St. Louis, MS

Nationwide tennis promotion includes Diamondhead clinic

Diamondhead will be a host site for USPTA's Across America Tennis Day, a nationwide tennis promotion scheduled Saturday, May 12, according to Magnus Eklund, tennis professional at Diamondhead.

The event, open to the public free of charge, will feature a tennis clinic and a round-robin social mixer. Newcomers to tennis are invited to come out to Diamondhead and see for themselves what the game of tennis is all about.

The tennis day is sponsored by the United States Professional Tennis Association (USPTA), the world's oldest and largest trade association of tennis-teaching professionals. Tennis-teaching pros from throughout the U.S. will host events May 12 such as the one to be held at Diamondhead at 1:30 p.m.

"Tennis is experiencing a resurgence in consumer popularity and one reason why it is the success of grassroots events such as USPTA's Across America Tennis Day," said USPTA chief executive officer Tim Heckler. "We're proud to be able to contribute in any way to the growth of our great sport."

Mosquitoes don't transmit AIDS

By Patti Drapala
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Mississippians can't catch AIDS from mosquitoes, and it is highly unlikely they will ever catch this dreaded disease from other insects.

"When the scientific community says that AIDS (Acquired Immunity Deficiency Syndrome) is not transmitted by mosquitoes, it's not just a guess," said Dr. Lane Foil, research entomologist at Louisiana State University. "Mosquitoes don't transmit AIDS."

Foil spoke at a statewide mosquito control workshop held recently in Jackson. The workshop was sponsored by the Mississippi Mosquito Control Commission and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Insects that transmit disease do so in one of two ways. They mechanically transmit a disease by biting an infected host, carrying the pathogen on their mouthparts and biting another host. Or, they biologically transmit a disease if the pathogen can live in their system and they continuously bite different hosts.

Mosquitoes cannot biologically transmit the virus causing AIDS because the virus cannot live in their systems, Foil said.

Local basketball player chosen for Ecuador trip

BY DENA BISNETTE

Terrie Rhodes of Bay St. Louis will combine ministry with basketball when she travels to Ecuador with the Athletes in Action Women's basketball team June 18-July 19.

Rhodes, daughter of Billy Rhodes and Joyce Wade of Bay St. Louis, is active in the campus ministry at University of Southern Mississippi, where she is majoring in secondary education and social studies.

She was recommended by several family members, friends and a former coach for selection to Athletes in Action, the sports ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ.

While she is not currently playing, Rhodes had a two-year basketball career at Pearl River Central after graduating from Bay High, where she played guard.

In Ecuador, she and other team members will travel through the country, conducting clinics and competing with local teams, sharing testimonies before and after games and talking one-on-one with the people they meet.

"We're going to be working with kids, other athletes and whoever we come in contact with," she said.

This is Rhodes' first trip outside the U.S.

In order to go, however, Rhodes must raise $3,000 in donations by May 4 to cover part of the team's expenses. Anyone who would like to donate to this project may mail a check to Terrie Rhodes, 212 Victoria Street, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Checks should be payable to Campus Crusade for Christ or Athletes in Action and are a tax-deductible donation.

SOCCER CHAMPS—The Bay Cyclones were named District 4 champions for the V-10 division. They will compete in the state competition at Tupelo in May. Team members and coach are (front row, left to right) Dusty Carver, Mark Pernicario, Justin

BMR slates open house, redfish release in Earth Day celebration

An open house and a redfish release head the activities scheduled at the offices of the Bureau of Marine Resources on Saturday, April 21, in celebration of the 20th anniversary of Earth Day.

The BMR offices are located at 2620 Beach Blvd. in Biloxi in the old AT&T Building just west of Edgewater Mall. The public is invited to the festivities beginning at 10 a.m. and concluding at 3 p.m.

Refreshments will be provided at the open house.

The event is jointly sponsored by the BMR and the Gulf of Mexico Program.

Free lunch will be available in the BMR offices where staff members will be on hand to conduct tours and explain BMR goals and objectives. Gulf Coast Recycling will set up a recycling center in the BMR parking lot, and hundreds of young redfish will be released from a 700-gallon tank into the Mississippi Sound.

Anyone bringing a recyclable item may have a redfish released in their name. Recyclable items include plastic beverage bottles and transparent plastic jugs.

The tank that will hold the redfish before they are released will be provided by National Marine Fisheries Service. The young redfish will be provided by Mississippi State University and The Redfish Hatchery of Pass Christian.

Earth Day is a day set aside for people to appreciate the earth and think of ways to make it better.

"The release of the redfish will symbolize the cooperative effort of conservation agencies and the public in trying to replace a diminishing resource in our waters," said Joe Gill, bureau deputy director for coastal operations.

Dr. Douglas A. Lipka, director of the Gulf of Mexico program, said the event promises to be an educational one.

"Opportunities like this (redfish release) can serve to educate the public about the diminishing resources of the Gulf," Lipka said. "Greater awareness by the public is our best and brightest hope for improving environmental conditions in the future."

Crosby Arboretum, nature conservancy agreement will enhance educational use

The Crosby Arboretum and The Nature Conservancy announced the signing of a five-year management agreement, which will expand current environmental education and research opportunities in southwest Mississippi and southeast Louisiana.

The announcement was made by Lynn Crosby Gammill, chairman of the Crosby Arboretum Foundation at Pinecote Pavilion in Picayune during Strawberries and Cream V, an annual festival sponsored by the Crosby Arboretum.

According to Nancy Jo Craig, director of the Louisiana Nature Conservancy, "The five-year agreement will provide a cooperative, private initiative to encourage additional scientific research on rare plants and natural communities, as well as enhance compatible educational use of Nature Conservancy preserves."

The agreement will provide access for the Arboretum and its associated scientists to all nature conservancy properties within a 60-mile radius of Picayune, including Charter Oak and White Kitchen preserves in Louisiana and recently acquired Sweetbay Bogs in Mississippi.

Because the properties all contain rare plant and animal life or pristine natural communities, additional research efforts will obviously benefit ongoing management of the properties," said Roger Jones, director of the Mississippi Nature Conservancy.

The Nature Conservancy is a non-profit conservation organization dedicated to the preservation of natural diversity.

To date, the organization and its 530,000 members have protected more than five million acres of bottomland hardwood forests, marshes, prairies, barrier islands, and other important natural areas.

The Louisiana Nature Conservancy was established in 1987 and the Mississippi Nature Conservancy in June of 1989.

The Crosby Arboretum is a non-profit conservation and educational organization established in 1979. An educational institution and display organized to protect diverse native flora and natural areas in the Pearl River drainage basin of southeast Louisiana and south Central Mississippi, the Arboretum monitors the 64-acre Pinecote Native Plant Center and 11 natural areas totalling 1,700 acres.

Annual youth fishing rodeo is Saturday at space center

The 6th annual Junior Fishing Rodeo is scheduled for Saturday, April 21, at the John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC). Sponsored by Quad S Company, SSC's security force, the event is open to any and all youth ages 1-15.

There is no entry fee but fishermen are asked to bring their own gear. Bait, soft drinks and hot dogs will be provided. The hours are 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. with registration at the spillway. In case of rain, the rodeo will be moved to April 22. Largest fish prizes in two age categories, 1-8 and 9-15, are $50, $75 and $100 savings bonds. Periodic drawings will be held throughout the day for prizes such as rods and reels and other fishing equipment.

CAMERA MAGIC

A tiny chicken embryo pulses with new life as it develops inside an egg. An acorn sprouts into an oak seedling in a matter of seconds. A bullet pierces through the air until it explodes its target.

These are some of the wondrous sights captured by a group of scientists-turned-filmmakers whose unbridled passion for the natural world launched a career creating groundbreaking special effects for films. A new special, "Camera Magic: Images of Nature," hosted by Dudley Moore, examines their genius.

"Camera Magic" will be broadcast at 5:50 p.m. Sunday, April 22, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network. It takes viewers on a journey through the eye of a needle to see the amazing creatures that live in a drop of water.

Amateur softball tournament district regulations outlined

Amateur Softball Association District 1 Commissioner Tommy Esposito stated due to 1989 team registrations six teams will be sent to all the adult and youth state tournaments.

After a survey of team managers, a new concept for district play was adopted.

District 1 men will have two qualifying tournaments and one district tournament. In all three tournaments, there will be an A bracket, a B-C bracket and a D-E bracket played the same week.

Teams may pick any one of the brackets they choose to play in.

The winner in each division, A, B, C, D and E in the two qualifying tournaments will win a berth in the state. In district, the top four teams in each the A, B, C, D and E will play in state.

The first qualifying men's tournament will be May 31 and

June 1-3 in Moss Point. Director is John Welch, who may be contacted at 475-7887, work; or 457-9421, home.

The second qualifying men's tournament is June 14-17 in Ocean Springs. Director is Leigh Brown, 875-8665, work; 872-2477, home.

Men's district will be July 16-22 in Gulfport. Director is Butch Weaver, 896-3386.

Women's district will be played July 13-15 in Biloxi. Director is Stan Warner, 392-6133. Women will have A bracket, B-C bracket and D-E bracket. Women's teams may play in any bracket they choose. The top six teams in each division will go to state.

The following deputies have been reappointed for 1990:

John Welch, 475-7887, Jackson and George counties; Leigh Brown, 875-8665, Ocean Springs, Vancleave and St. Martin;

Stan Warner, 392-6133, and Roy Thurman, 388-0600, d'Iberville and Biloxi;

Butch Weaver, 896-3386, Gulfport, Orange Grove and Hancock County; and Jerry Stough, 798-7489, Picayune and Pearl River County.

Chief deputy district commissioner is Maxine Esposito. District junior olympic commissioner is Gerald Lamey, 392-2821.

District umpire-in-chief is Andre Kaufman. Chief deputy umpire-in-chief is Howard McNeill Jr.; deputy umpires-in-chief are James McIntyre and Stan Warner. District player representative is Butch Weaver.

Umpires and teams may register and receive rosters from any of the above area deputies. The adult team and youth team roster deadline will be announced by each district tournament director.

Mosquitos

The system of a mosquito changes the structure of the virus and it cannot reproduce.

Can mosquitoes transmit AIDS by biting an infected person and then biting a non-infected one? No, Foil said, because mosquitoes don't have enough blood on their mouthparts to infect someone.

When a mosquito finishes a feeding, it has 1 nanoliter of blood on its mouthpart. One nanoliter is one-billionth of a liter. (One liter is approximately equal to 1 quart.) But, only one-thousandth of that nanoliter is actually deposited during the second feeding because of the way a mosquito feeds, Foil said.

A mosquito feeds by piercing a blood vessel with its proboscis (small, needlelike tube). Blood is drawn directly from the blood vessel.

"There has to be a certain amount of infectious material transmitted for an infection to biologically take place," said Dr. Jim Hamer, extension entomologist. "There is not enough infectious material in that one-thousandth of a nanoliter on the mosquito's mouthpart."

Other insects such as horse flies bite humans. Can they transmit AIDS if they bite an infected person? No, said Foil, because the house fly cannot support the virus in its system.

The AIDS virus is classified as a retro virus. Scientific studies on disease transmission show that retro viruses cannot reproduce inside many insects that bite humans, Foil said.

"It's possible that an insect could feed on a person with the virus and then feed on a person without it, but the probability of infection is highly unlikely," Foil said. "It's the same probability as the moon falling on a person."

Gulfview fundraiser gets students jumping

A Jump Rope for Heart fundraiser was held in March at Gulfview Elementary School, where students in grades three through six participated.

Teams of four jumped for a total of 100 minutes. Students solicited pledges for each minute jumped.

Top winners were Stacy Weaver, third grade, $51; Tammy Stofflet, third grade, $40.30; and Lindsey Burge, third grade, $36.

A total of $815.38 was netted by the students for donation to the American Heart Association.

New preserve is Sweetbay Bogs nature area

The Mississippi Nature Conservancy will host a stewardship day at their newest preserve, the Sweetbay Bogs Nature Area, on April 28 beginning at 10 a.m.

Sweetbay, located 12 miles west of Wiggins, harbors two quaking bogs and six rare species, including two that are globally endangered.

The Conservancy is an international conservation group that has protected more than 90,000 acres of Mississippi's unspoiled natural areas.

For information, call the state office at 355-5357.

Easter cheer

Eighty-eight patients at Hotel Reed Nursing Center were treated to Easter goodies prepared by Debbie Tankersley of Bay St. Louis, standing center, her brother Joseph Hughes, right, and friend Cynthia Hignight, left. The trio prepared baskets for diabetic patients as well and included personal grooming items. Patient Jim Busby is seated. Hignight's daughters, Samantha Sessions and Amanda Billups were on hand to wish Easter greetings. (Echo staff photo by Janet McQueen)

Easter Sand Sculpture

Completed on Good Friday by the Jim Henrie and Mike Simpson families, a 20-by-35-foot sand sculpture of a crucifix remains on the beach at Pass Christian for Easter Sunday. The project started four years ago and has become an annual tradition. Henrie said the public response increases every year, with many people visiting and even bringing flowers to the site. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

SSC Pepsi Students named

Pepsi Students of the Month for March at St. Stanislaus High School are senior Do Nguyen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cham Van Nguyen of Pass Christian; junior Scott Niolet, son of Mrs. Diane Gallagher of Pass Christian; sophomore Jay Wood, son of Mrs. Catherine Wood of Pass Christian; freshman Bernard Sy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bertrand Sy of Bay St. Louis; eighth grader Charles Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver of Bay St. Louis and seventh grader Michael Bolian, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolian of Bay St. Louis.

The Student of the Month is sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company; and students are selected on the basis of performance, effort, people skills, self-control and initiative.

CES students attend Presidential Classroom

Two juniors and one senior from Coast Episcopal High School recently attended the 1990 Presidential Classroom in Washington, D.C.

Chosen were junior Rebecca Thompson of Gulfport and junior Paul Bernadas and senior Scott Covode, both of Pass Christian.

Students attending the Presidential Classroom receive a first-hand look at the federal government in action. The classroom immerses students in an intensive week of workshops and seminars designed to give participants a deeper understanding of how the U.S. Government works, the problems and opportunities of daily government operations and the issues facing America today.

The students are exposed to elected and appointed leaders of government and their diverse viewpoints.

BERNADAS, THOMPSON, COVODE

Bennett competes in leadership contest

Leanne Bennett, 14, daughter of Lee and Diane Bennett of Diamondhead, participated in the University of Southern Mississippi Center for Gifted Studies' 1990-statewide Leadership Competitions March 24.

More than 100 seventh-through-12th-grade students from throughout the state competed in the daylong event for awards in leadership plans, public speaking, essay writing and selected visual arts.

The center conducts programs of varying length and content throughout the year, primarily for high-ability students. For more information, contact Dr. Frances A. Karnes, director, The USM Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box 8207, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-8207; telephone 266-5236.

Former local resident takes Cajun cooking to California

BY TRACI BONNEY

Steve Stieffell has carved out a niche for himself in California by spicing up Simi Valley's restaurant offerings.

Stieffell is the son of the late Ray Stieffell Sr. and Myrtle Stieffell of Bay St. Louis and a former student of St. Stanislaus High School. He also is the owner of La Louisianne Express, the only Cajun-style restaurant in Simi Valley.

He has lived in California for the last 10 years, but he grew up in Louisiana and learned the secrets of Cajun cooking in his family's kitchens.

"My kin folk can definitely do a lot of down-home cooking," he said. "I'd always be right over the pot seeing how it's done. I've always enjoyed cooking for a lot of friends."

Curole poster takes first

Kerri Curole, eighth grade student at Bay High School has won first place in her grade division in the 1990 Mississippi Lung Association Poster Art Contest on the "Health Hazards of Smoking."

Kerri's poster is titled, "New Life Deserves a Chance." The MLA contest for grades three through 12 gives students the opportunity to research the health hazards of smoking and express their thoughts on the subject in poster art form.

First place winners and honorable mention from each grade were selected from schools throughout the state. All winning posters were on display April 18 at the MLA annual meeting at Primos Northgate in Jackson.

All-star cartoon cast teams up to fight drugs

Winnie the Pooh, Daffy Duck, The Smurfs, Miss Piggy, Miff and Garfield join a cast of all time favorite cartoon characters teamed up to fight drugs in the upcoming unprecedented animated special, "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue" airing Saturday, April 21 at 9:30 a.m.

WWE-TV, WDSU-TV and WVUE-TV will air the special simultaneously along with network affiliates nationwide. The show is a collaborative effort between The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, Ronald McDonald Children's Charities and the McDonald's family of restaurants. More than 20 million children are expected to view "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue."

The program will air without commercial interruption as a public service. Following the broadcast, more than 250,000 video cassettes of the special will be donated to schools, community groups, and libraries thanks to a grant from RMCC.

A captivating cast of more than 20 of the world's most popular cartoon characters appear in the special. Rounding out the more notorious 'toons are three new characters: Michael, a 14-year-old drug user, his younger sister Corey, and Smoke (voice of George C. Scott) the evil drug pusher.

MILITARY MENTIONS

SEAMAN ROBINSON

Navy Seaman Recruit Tony M. Robinson, son of Jim M. and Betty L. Robinson, both of Bay St. Louis, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Robinson's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Robinson's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

AIRMAN KINCHEN

Airman 1st Class Barry J. Kinchen was graduated from the air traffic control operator course at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi.

Course graduates were taught aircraft recognition and performance, navigational aids, and procedures to regulate air traffic and airport traffic control.

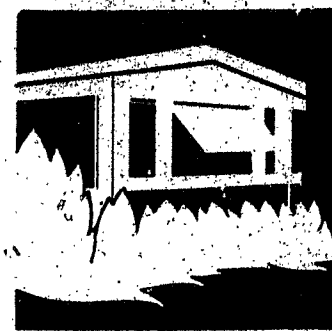

He is the son of Dewitt and Eleanor Kinchen of Ponchatoula, La.

His wife, Air Force Airman 1st Class Karen Kinchen, is the daughter of the Rev. Frank and Wanda Kendrick of Bay St. Louis.

Ryan tops math competition at PRC

Seventh grader Julie Ryan of Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis and eighth grader Michael Miller of East Marion High School in Marion County won their respective divisions of the Mississippi Counsel of Teachers of Mathematics (MCTM) Junior High Mathematics Contest held at Pearl River Community College.

Seventh and eighth grade students from 12 junior high school in the PRC district participated in the contest.

Robert Lott, chairman of the Department of Mathematics and Physics, distributed certificates of attendance to all participating students.

An eighth grade second place award went to Keith Levy from Picayune Junior High School and the seventh grade second place award was presented to Shellie Switzer of Lumberton.

The four winners will now advance to the state level competition which will be held at East Central Community College in Decatur on Friday, April 27.

All the students were treated to lunch and a tour of PRC's new science and math complex.

Bulldog cheerleader tryouts scheduled

Cheer for the Gulf Coast Community College Bulldogs, and receive valuable scholarships to attend GCCC.

A cheerleader workshop and tryouts will be at the Perkinson Campus on Saturday and Sunday, April 21 and 22.

Participants will learn cheers, chants, dances and partner stunts on Saturday. On Sunday, they may audition for a place on the Bulldog football or basketball cheerleader squad.

Mascot tryouts will be on Sunday also.

For more information, contact Diane Allen at Perkinson, 928-6300.

INTERACT—Twenty-one members of the Bay High School Rotary Interact Club recently attended a special Rotary luncheon. Keith Hardison, superintendent of Beauvoir, the Jefferson Davis shrine in Biloxi, demonstrated the clothing and weapons of a Confederate infantryman. Interact club members include, seated from left,

Drug Awareness

Students at Hancock North Central Elementary released 800 balloons in recognition of Drug Awareness Week. The balloon release was a highlight of a week filled with activities, including a visit from McGruff, the Crime Dog, Hancock County Sheriff's Department; and Show Biz' Chucky Cheese and Leslie Shelton from Sand Hill. These volunteers reached all grades K-6. Some of the balloons reached Florida and Alabama, and the children were contacted.

A poster-and-jingle contest was held with winners in grades K-6. The jingle contest was won by Alan Peterson and Beau Reaves. Joy Gillan, above, Stephanie Grant and Kandice Ladner won second, with Suzanne McDowell coming in third. At right, Christy Hoffman's balloon reached Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Douglas Radzyniak's balloon reached Wilmer, Ala.; and Crystal Ladner's balloon reached Ormond Beach, Fla.

de Montluzin scholarship available to local seniors

Officers and members of the advisory board of the de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship Fund will meet during May for the selection of the recipient of the seventh annual de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship.

The annual award has been increased this year from $500 to $1,000.

Candidates for the scholarship must be a senior attending an accredited high school in Hancock County and must be a resident of Hancock County. He/she must submit a transcript of high school grades, letter of recommendation from a principal or guidance counselor, and must have taken the National Foreign Language Test in their chosen language and have at least a B in that subject.

More information and applications are available from high school counselors or principals. The scholarship fund will at all times accept donations from any interested parties, individuals, clubs or organizations. Contributions are tax exempt and are used solely for the annual scholarship award and can be mailed to the Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship Fund, P.O. Box 127, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 or to any Hancock Bank.

USM camp to develop academic talent

The University of Southern Mississippi's Center for Gifted Studies will accept applications until April 30 for its residential summer program for students with particular academic talents who are currently in grades 7-10.

Conducted in conjunction with Duke University's Talent Identification Program (TIP), the USM Summer Program for Academically Talented Youth will be offered July 8-28 on the Hattiesburg campus. The 1989 program attracted youth from Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina and Texas.

The 1990 program offers very bright students a choice of seven fast-paced, challenging courses:

—Precalculus mathematics allows each student to work at his own pace on material not previously mastered.

—Expository writing uses a workshop style to teach students to turn their experiences into well-organized prose.

—Psychology emphasizes the biological bases of behavior, development, learning, perception, measurement and statistical methods.

—International relations examines current U.S. relations with Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, Africa and Asia.

—"People and Power," an advanced writing course, focuses on world leadership and social change.

—Biology uses scientific tools and methods to examine principles that apply both to plants and animals.

—Spanish I stresses understanding and using spoken Spanish.

To be eligible, students must have participated in a talent search program, such as TIP, between 1987 and 1990 and present a photocopy of acceptable SAT or ACT scores with the application.

For applications or information about fees and financial aid, write Dr. Frances Karnes, the USM Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box

8207, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-8207; or call (601) 266-5236.

FARMWEEK

The Mississippi Educational Television Network's "Farmweek" goes down on the farm to a place where Noah's Ark has a healing touch.

At 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 23, "Farmweek" reporter Kerissa Hollis will visit Mendenhall's Dixie Farms, a special farm devoted to the therapy of physically and emotionally handicapped children. The children are allowed to feed the goats, pet the dogs or ride the farm's many horses and ponies.

PEPPER STEAK

Sauce
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 Tablesp. each: La Choy Lite
Soy Sauce and cornstarch

Meat and Vegetables
1 lb. flank steak, sliced in very thin strips across the grain
1/4 cup La Choy Lite Soy Sauce

In a small bowl, mix all sauce ingredients; set aside. In a medium bowl, combine flank steak, soy sauce, sherry and cornstarch; mix well. Marinate 15 minutes. In a wok or large non-stick skillet, heat 2 tablespoons oil over high heat. Stir-fry half of beef until it loses redness; remove with slotted spoon and drain on paper towels. Repeat with remaining beef. Heat 2 tablespoons oil; stir-fry onion and garlic 5 minutes. Add peppers; stir-fry 1 minute longer. Stir sauce and add to wok with bean sprouts. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and bubbling. Return meat to pan, toss to coat and heat through. Serve immediately.
Makes 4 servings.

1 Tablesp. each: pale dry sherry and cornstarch
6 Tablesp. Wesson Vegetable Oil
1 1/2 cups sliced onion
1 1/2 cups minced garlic
1 1/2 cups each: thin strips red and green bell peppers

America's Supermarket BUY THE BEEF THAT SETS THE STANDARDS

When you buy U.S. Choice Beef, make sure it's W-D Brand Beef from WINN-DIXIE. You'll see a difference because at WINN-DIXIE, once U.S. Choice Beef has met the government standards, it still has to meet ours. And our standards are even tougher. We hand select only the highest quality U.S. Choice Beef, then naturally age it to make it naturally tender. Then we put our W-D Brand Shield on it. It's your assurance of quality from the Beef People at WINN-DIXIE.
